

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXV.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY JUNE 26, 1896.

NO. 34

HUSTONVILLE.

—Born to the wives of D. S. Skinner and John Dinwiddie, Jr., a boy each.
—James Frye is an early gardener as well as a hustling merchant. He has been having roasting ears out of his garden for about two weeks and we can testify that they are very nice, having sampled a mess through his kindness.
—Dr. W. B. Penny will be at the Weatherford Hotel Tuesday, June 30th. Will remain for a few days only. Call at once and make engagement. Dentistry in all its branches. Teeth extracted without pain. All work guaranteed. Room No. 1. Consultation and examination free.

—Bill Dunn came into town Monday by the Moreland pike and reported Mr. Tom Robinson's house on fire. There was a general rush up the hill on the part of our citizens to help Mr. Robinson in his trouble, when it was discovered that the only fire to be seen was a blazing brush pile in the corner of the yard. It was a disgusted crowd that marched down the hill.

—While the young ladies were serving refreshments at the young men's reading room a few nights since, one of the hanging lamps set the ceiling above it alight. While no serious damage was done, the flames being extinguished without much difficulty, yet it created considerable alarm, since it is a foregone conclusion if that building ever burns that a large portion of the town will go with it.

—The ladies of the aid society of the Moreland Union church gave a supper last week for the benefit of the church. They made about $27. We owe them an apology for not publishing a notice of the supper they sent us, but it was misplaced and we were unable to find it when wanted. It was a very elegant affair. They had 23 different kinds of cake and they were very nice as we can testify. They would have had a good crowd from this place had not the elocutionary contest at Stanford interfered.

—Mrs. Wright, of Louisville, who has been visiting Mrs. Susan Wright, returned home Monday. George Ellis is on the sick list. Mr. and Mrs. Robert White, of Hubble, were visiting Squire L. B. Adams' family last week. June Reid has resigned his position with E. B. Twidwell to accept employment with a company at Flat Rock, Tenn. We are sorry to lose June as he is one of our most popular young men and has a host of warm friends. Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Lyles, of Nashville, are at Mr. W. S. Hocker's. Mr. Lyles is sick at present. Mr. and Mrs. S. Walton Forgy, of Elkton, are visiting relatives here, having arrived Tuesday. Mr. Forgy is a prominent lawyer of that place.

—The junior endeavor society held a service at the Presbyterian church Sunday night under the direction of Miss Margaret Bennett. The audience was greatly pleased with the efforts of the little fellows and all performed their parts so nicely it would be invidious to single out any for special mention. Some of the more difficult musical numbers were rendered by local singers and in addition the congregation had the pleasure of listening to two solos by Mrs. Lyles, who was visiting here. Mrs. Lyles never sings before more appreciative audiences than she meets here. She is not afraid to sing simple gospel songs that we all can appreciate, and it is safe to say that not a child in the house failed to respond to the magic power of her beautiful voice.

SOMEWHAT LOCAL.

—John Jarrett was held under $1,000 bond at Mt. Vernon for killing Buck Padgett.

—The property of the Pine Mountain Coal Co., in Ball county, which consists of about 17,000 acres of timbered lands, coal mines, coking ovens, a railroad about three miles long, electric light plant in Pineville, and the hotel property, besides many Pineville town lots, will be sold at auction Aug. 11, to pay the $500,000 bonds and accrued interest.

—Miss Mary Newland, of Paint Lick, has been so successful as to secure the Ball Hill public school, which averages about 87 pupils. She will begin teaching 1st Monday in July.

—There was a family reunion held Wednesday at the home of Mr. Joel Walker. The celebration was in honor of Mr. David Walker, of South Carolina, a brother of Mr. Walker.

—A mother's meeting was held Monday afternoon at the college by the popular kindergarten teacher, Miss Margaret Murphy. A number of the mothers of the pupils were in attendance.

—Messrs. John Embury and Monte Fox have been circulating among the cattle men of this vicinity, feeling of their pulse. No trades as yet are reported and 35 seems to be the outside price for the best export cattle.

—Mrs. Jake Joseph entertained some of the popular young society people Wednesday evening. One object of the social gathering was to test a handsome new piano Mrs. Joseph had just received as a gift from her husband.

—Though a small man Mr. Wm. Ward is certainly one of our most enterprising ones. He has proven this by erecting new cottages on Lexington street. It is just about a year since he built such a handsome house on the same street, the one he is now occupying.

—Judge James Patterson, one of Garrard's most highly respected citizens, is dead. He was judge of the county a number of terms and was fearless in what he knew to be his duty. The funeral was preached Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the family residence by Elder Jesse Walden. Interment in the Lancaster cemetery.

—Miss Lily Dale Grant, while out driving with two young lady friends, Misses Eliza Anderson and Talley Orand, Tuesday afternoon, proved herself a heroine. As they were crossing the square the horse that Miss Grant drove became frightened at a bicycle that passed and started to run, when by great presence of mind and heroic efforts, she stopped him.

—Mrs. Mary Noel and daughter, Miss Anna, are with Mr. H. T. Noel and family. Capt. John Rose, of Louisville, has been with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, for several days past. Batson is at home for the vacation from Kentucky University.

—Rev. Luther M. Scroggs, who has been for a year pursuing post-graduate work at Centre College and the theological seminary, has accepted the pastorate at Mt. Vernon and will also have charge of the Mt. Vernon Collegiate Institute. Rev. Scroggs has already entered upon his field of labor. The institute will open early in September.

—The building of the new church at Hubble, to which a number of the members of Rush Branch church will move their membership, will have no effect on the old church, which will continue its services as it has done for the past 75 years. Everything is harmonious in the Rush Branch church and the new house of worship is merely built for the convenience of those who live down in that neighborhood.

—The Owensboro Baptist, the Rev. Fred D. Hale's paper, in speaking of the split in the Owensboro First Baptist Church, says: "Four hundred members of the First Baptist Church and some 30 more have indicated that they will go with us into the new organization, so that we shall start out with 400 or 500 members. They want to live in a church without dancing, card playing, liquor selling and liquor drinking, thus making it impossible for there ever to be a state of affairs as we see here today, and they say they are going to have me for a pastor."

—A sister asks me to restrain my pen from further opposition to this modern sanctification craze. I have carefully studied the question and have deliberately decided that this profession of sinlessness, or taking away of inbred sin, is a doctrine of the devil, and that those who profess it are deluded, and that those who teach it are hypocrites. I do not like to "grieve" those who advocate it, but it is my duty to tell the truth about it, and my words are not as strong as those John used when he said: "If we say we have no sin the truth is not in us." If the folks who have become sanctified in my section of the country are fair samples of the thing, I must be allowed to respectfully decline to accept it as a free gift. And in this statement I make no exception, for all of them are of a whiteness."—Rev. J. N. Hall, in Baptist Recorder.

—The ladies of the Methodist church here will have a supper Friday night at Mrs. Annie Engleman's residence for the benefit of the church. Admission 25c for all you can eat and for a good cause.

—A bloody battle took place near Harlan C. H. between John Pace, Irvine Darnett and Harrison Cornett on one side, and George Dean, William Stewart and Dave Elbridge on the other, in which George Dean was instantly killed and William Stewart mortally wounded, living only 12 hours. The slayers have been arrested and are now in jail. It is said the affray grew out of a general quarrel in which all six of the men became involved.

MRS. BESSIE LYLE CHERRY,

Winner of the 2d prize, a banquet lamp. She represented Bowling Green and recited "Wild Zingarelle." Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Fayne, live at Crab Orchard. She was attending school when Prof. Cherry won and married her. Her age is but 18.

DEATH DOINGS.

—After a nervous trouble, which racked her system for five or six years, Mrs. Fannie Hill Smith, wife of Mr. E. W. Smith, and youngest daughter of Col. T. P. Hill, quietly passed away at an early hour Tuesday morning, leaving besides a grief-stricken husband, two little children, a boy and a girl, to suffer the loss of earth's best friend.

Mrs. Smith was a peculiarly bright and attractive girl and when in April, 1888, she was united in marriage to the man of her choice, she was as beautiful and fair a bride as we ever looked upon. The picture of health and happiness, she bid fair to live to a ripe old age, but death marked her for his victim in a few years and she has never since known a well day. In 1891, after the birth of her little girl, Annie, and while she was living at Alleghany Springs, Va., she was baptized and received into the Episcopal church, of which her husband was a member. She held her little girl in her arms and she also was baptized. It was the firm confidence in the promises of her Maker which sustained her in her long illness and made her patient in suffering and enabled her to say at all times, "He doeth all things well." Though racked with pain, no murmur escaped her lips. She was devoted to her husband and children and no wife and mother was ever more tenderly loved in return. Her children idolized her and always referred to her as "my pretty mother." They will receive every care and attention possible, but no one can fill a mother's place, no one can supply a mother's undying love. May God watch over them and bring peace, consolation and comfort to her heart-broken husband, who watched so tenderly over her during her long illness, and the fond old father, who so sadly feels the blow. At the grave, where a large concourse of friends had gathered, Rev. W. S. Grinstead read the Episcopal service, Rev. R. B. Mahony offered a touching prayer, and all that is mortal of a dutiful daughter, a loving wife and fond mother was consigned to the earth.

—Mrs. Ruth Hines, whose illness was noted in our last, died at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. W. S. Warren, at 10:30 Wednesday night, aged 86. Her maiden name was Potter and she was born in Rockcastle. Her husband died several years ago and for a dozen years she has made her home with Mrs. Warren. Of the children born to her seven survive, but all except Mrs. Warren are in the far West and cannot attend the burial, which occurs at 10 o'clock to-day in the Coffey burying ground at Turnersville. Mrs. Hines was a member of the Methodist church for many years and was a devoted Christian woman. Her years were long upon the earth and she at last receives the reward promised the faithful.

SIX PAGES.

The State Central Committee, with Jack Chinn representing us, met in Lexington Tuesday and decided not to go too fast, it does seem to have things its own way. A resolution was adopted that "reorganization of county and legislative committees is not necessary except in so far as it required effective party work, and that full consideration be accorded every democrat who is willing to support the nominees of the party." More changes were decided on in this, the 5th and 7th districts, because there are more sound money men in the lead in them than the others. Harvey Myers was turned down at every point by Goebel, who not only got all his committee recognized, but will be second in command to Johnston on the committee. Sound Money Goebel stood up for Fiat Money Blackburn at Frankfort and verily he gets his reward. Another feature of the meeting was a blow at Col. Billy Breckinridge's candidacy for Congress by firing Mr. Butler, his right hand man, from the committee for the 7th district, and deciding that T. E. Moore, of Bourbon, is entitled to the place. The headquarters of the committee will be in Lexington and the next meeting is fixed for July 15.

The Rev. Dr. Jos. Twitchwell, objected to the planting of an ivy from the grave of Gen. Robert E. Lee on the occasion of the dedication of the Wesley Memorial Chapel at Yale, and in his speech said: "Prof. Wesley was a Union man, heart and soul, and it would make this bronze statue avert its head were he to know that the graduating classes of Yale were to plant on the walls of a building on the campus an ivy from the grave of Gen. Robert E. Lee. Gen. Lee was a good man, but he was loyal to an infamous cause." The remark was freely criticized and the seniors and professors thought that "to say the least it was ill-advised." Such talk might be expected from a bloody shirt shaking politician, but from a follower of the meek and lowly Nazarene, whose duty is to heal dissensions and promote peace, it is revolting. Hell is full of such preachers as the Rev. Twitchwell, where it is hoped he will Twitch—well through all eternity.

There is a great deal being printed and said with reference to Gov. Bradley's original stand on the currency question and much of it is purest rot. The governor may not always be able to read his title to acquittal clear when charges are made against him; but the writer can clear him of any equivocation on the money question, so far as any utterance we ever heard him make. Long before the convention, which nominated him for governor, he told us that he was for the gold standard and declared that he intended to use all the influence he could command in securing a declaration by his party for it. "Both parties straddled the question in their last National conventions, the plan being apparently purposely constructed to mean anything or nothing," said he, "the democrats especially seeming determined to catch 'em a' coming and a' going."

AFTER riotous and disgraceful proceedings, the Indiana democratic convention declared for the free coinage of silver and named Voorhees, Turpie, McCabe and Menzies as delegates-at-large to Chicago, only one of them being for gold. B. F. Shively was nominated for governor and Gov. Matthews was recommended for the presidential nomination. In Ohio the free silver loons had everything their own way and they used their power despotically. They declared for the 16 to 1 business and sent John R. McLean, A. W. Thurman, L. E. Holden and E. B. Finley to head the delegation to Chicago. No instructions were given for president and vice president, but no one is to be voted for who is not in full accord with the free silver business. It was a bad day for the gold bugs and for the country.

It is now certain that the silverites will have a sufficient number of votes in the Chicago convention to make the platform, as only a majority is necessary in that case, but unless the time honored rule, requiring a two-thirds vote to nominate a candidate is broken, they will not be able to name a man, unless the gold men agree to it. The two-thirds rule has prevailed ever since the first democratic convention, broken only once—in 1860—when ruin and disaster followed, and if the silver men are wise they will not tempt fate again by abrogating a rule adopted to curb the dangerous tendency of majorities.

So-called democrats, who honor such an anarchist as Altgeld, after finding out the manner of man he is, deserve to be eternally snowed under. The Illinois people who monkey under the name of democrats, nominated Altgeld for governor by acclamation and selected him as one of the delegates from the State-at-large to the National convention. When people go crazy they are liable to do anything and Illinois has gone stark wild on the 16 to 1 free silver coinage idea.

The Confederate reunion to be held in historic Richmond June 30-July 2, promises to be the largest gathering of soldiers of the lost cause ever held since they disbanded 31 years ago. It is said that each of the 333 camps will be represented, while thousands who do not belong to the organization will be present. An interesting feature will be the attendance of the Daughters of the Confederacy from every one of the Southern States. The corner stone of a $200,000 monument to Hon. Jefferson Davis will be laid and there are other attractive features of the program. The hospitable city has made every preparation to entertain and please the vast crowd that will be there, and that she will do it all ought to be done, no one who knows the people will doubt. The brave old fellows who battled for the cause they thought was just are rapidly passing over the river and soon they will be only a memory. They ask no favors and get no pensions, but they are the salt of the earth and a hero, every one. God bless them and give to each at the final reckoning the welcome plaudit: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

The editors, several hundred strong, are having a big time at Georgetown, which has put the big pot into the little one for them. To-day they go by special train in Pullmans furnished by the L. & N., which always does the nice thing by the newspaper men, to Brunswick, Ga., and thence by steamer to Cumberland Island. It is a big trip and here's hoping the boys will enjoy it.

New York's 72 votes will be for sound money and Senators Hill and Murphy, Gov. Flower and F. R. Coudert will cast them. The convention endorsed Mr. Cleveland's administration and especially commended his financial policy. It is now known how all the States will stand and the result shows 570 for free silver to 348 against, just 42 short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

ONE of the jokes of the season is the mention of John R. McLean, editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, for president of the U. S. But stranger things have happened than his nomination. This is a year of surprises.

—Six weeks ago it seemed impossible that the republican candidate for the presidency could be defeated. Now his defeat is not only possible but probable. The American voter hates a coward.—N. J. Journal.

—The fight against Congressman John Hendrick in the First is being pushed by the silver men. They are endeavoring to get all silver candidates but one off the track so as to unite against Hendrick in the primary.

—The 10th district republicans were still trying to nominate a candidate for Congress at Beattyville at last accounts. On the sixth ballot the vote stood 604 for Hopkins and 614 for Langley. It is believed Hopkins will be nominated. It takes 73 votes to nominate.

—Up to date the 16-to-1 men have been called silver bugs, the sound money men gold bugs, the prohibitionists water bugs and the woman suffragists lady bugs. To which should be added the mugwump humbugs, and the entomological campaign may now proceed.—Commercial Tribune.

—The two wings of the democratic party in Texas held separate conventions Tuesday. The gold standard men quickly adopted their platform indorsing the administration and declaring for sound money, but the silver faction wrangled till midnight over the platform and adjourned till morning before finishing their work.

Where Botes Would Be Strong.

Horace Botes of Iowa is the leading free silver candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. FREE SILVER.

Would Not Remedy the Unequal Distribution of Wealth.

It is because of the belief that in some way free coinage would give the poorer classes some of the wealth now in the hands of the rich that the farmers and workers in some sections of the country have favored the 16 to 1 scheme.

The shallowness of the pretense that the silver standard would help the poor as against the rich can be seen by considering the results which its advocates claim would follow its adoption. They insist that by measuring values in dollars worth half of a gold dollar the value of all the wealth in the country would be exactly doubled. This is an error arising out of the silverite confusion of value with price. Prices would doubtless be doubled as compared with the 50 cent dollar, but the value of all kinds of goods would not be increased in the slightest degree. Does any farmer think that his implements or his furniture would really be worth more to him if their nominal price was doubled?

But even if prices were doubled how would that help the people who are poor? The man who now has $1,000,000 worth of property would under free silver have $2,000,000 worth. This would benefit him 100 times as much, so far as prices are concerned, as the man with $10,000 and 1,000 times as much as the man with only $1,000. The men who now have nothing would under free coinage have exactly twice nothing. The gap between the poor man and the millionaire would be just as great as it is now. The laborer, who has no goods to sell, would find that the prices of all his food and clothing were twice as high, while any increase of wages would come slowly if at all. In compelling the masses to pay higher prices for all they consume, while doubling the price of the property of the wealthy classes, free silver would make the rich richer and the poor poorer.

Free coinage as a scheme for enriching the owners of a few silver mines and getting offices for calamity howling politicians may be a great success. As a means of abolishing the differences between the poor and the wealthy classes it is a monumental fraud.

A Specimen Argument.

The following is one of Judge Crisp's favorite illustrations of the horrors of the gold standard:

"Suppose that you had been owing a debt of $100 for five years. You could have satisfied that debt five years ago with two bales of cotton. Today it will require three bales of cotton to cancel the same debt. The reason is the supply of money has been reduced and the demand has correspondingly increased."

"There are several fallacies in this statement," says the Atlanta Journal. "In the first place the supply of money has not been reduced within the last five years, either in bulk or per capita."

"But if Judge Crisp's argument is good there must have been an immense increase in the currency last year, for while it would have required nearly four bales of cotton to pay a debt of $100 in 1894, two bales and a quarter would have paid it in 1895."

"If Judge Crisp is ignorant on the subject he is discussing, he should inform himself before he poses as a Democratic leader. If he knows more than his speeches indicate, he should not try to deceive the people."

"When a politician, after study and thought, changes from being a free coinage to a sound money advocate, he is a turncoat and a traitor, but when, to keep in the political swim, he changes from sound money to free silver coinage, 'God bless him! he is a statesman and a patriot,' say all the silverites."

The Magic of the Word "Free."

It is difficult to understand how any considerable portion of the people can be so ignorant of the most vital question now before them as to believe that "free" coinage actually means that by some mysterious legerdemain the people are to get something for nothing. And yet it is undoubtedly true that a large number of people who are following the free silver ignis fatuus do so because their imagination has been captivated by that magic word "free." The man, therefore, who expects to receive a dollar, whether of gold or silver or paper, must have some product of labor to give in exchange, and no financial system worthy of its own respect has ever claimed anything else. Under free coinage not only must every dollar represent at least an equivalent amount of labor, but it will represent twice as much labor and purchase just half as much commodities as at present. —Augusta (Ga.) Herald.

A GREAT BOOK FREE.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first edition of his great work, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," he announced that 50,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.00 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, twenty-one one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent postpaid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1,000 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.00, except only that the books are in strong manilla covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away.

How Nero Burned Rome.

Nero had been taking lessons on the fiddle until everybody else in the block had moved away.

Still the cruel tyrant kept on. Finally he thought it was time to play in public, and one balmy night he took his fiddle out on the porch and let her go.

The more it went the more Nero chuckled, for he was undoubtedly a cruel man, and he had stuffed cotton in his ears before beginning operations.

Filing a saw was Wilhelm to it, but Nero didn't care a sesterce for that.

As he continued the sounds began to permeate all quarters of the city, and millions of matches in all the Roman households began to squirm and twist in their boxes.

Their nerves tingled and their heads began to feel like splitting.

Still Nero played. The matches felt the strain more and more every minute.

At last he jammed his bow through an allegro-con-moto-loud-pedal, twisted it around a time or two and pulled it out again, and every match in town went off with a pop.

Five minutes later Rome was burning.

And the tyrant played on. —W. J. Lampton in Truth.

DESIGNING DOLLS.

A Tiny Miss Who Has Made a Great Success in Drawing Paper Toys.

The hundreds of people who see their children playing happily with paper dolls daily do not realize what a field for the labors of talented persons the manufacture of these paper toys presents. One of the best known designers of paper dolls is Miss Marguerite McDonald. She is now a young miss of 16, but she was only 13 years old when her dolls, whose designing had been her amusement and play, was brought to the attention of one of the largest art publishing firms of the country. The firm was so pleased with the artistic quality and original character of Miss Marguerite's work that an offer was promptly made to her for it, and the little girl found that her play had become profitable. Since the first of her dolls became popular, her pretty handwork has been much added to, until her doll family is large and distinguished.

Marguerite is the daughter of a naval officer, and her home is in Washington, although she was born in New York. New Yorkers have a still further claim upon her from the fact that her mother's family live there, too, and Dr. Rogers, long the pastor of the church at the corner of Twenty-first street and Fifth avenue, was her great-grandfather. Marguerite's mother says that when the young artist was a small child, a mere baby, indeed, she saw a pencil one day and took hold of it at once as if she knew how to use it. This fact was so striking, as well as unusual, that her mother noticed and remembered it, and felt sure her little daughter would show a talent for drawing when she grew older. This she did very soon, and her painted dollies were the delight of all the children of the neighborhood long before they became an article of sale in the shops. They were comical enough at first, though from the very start her originality of design showed itself.

The publishing firm have been very much interested in the little girl from the time they saw her first productions. Last Christmas a year ago they sent her a most beautiful gold watch, set with diamonds, at which you may imagine she was much pleased. Miss Marguerite is a pupil of the Washington High School. Her talent is a perfectly natural one, she having had no instruction beyond that which is got at the public schools. She means to be an artist, and hopes some day to use the brush in more ambitious work than her dolls, pretty as they are. —Philadelphia Press.

Mrs. Anna B. Jeffers.

"For the first time in the history of the state," says the Baltimore News, "a woman is today holding a state office in Maryland. Colonel Luther H. Gadd, state librarian, sent his resignation to Governor Lowndes recently, and Mrs. Anna B. Jeffers of Annapolis received her commission, filed her bond and entered upon the duties of the office, to which she was appointed by Governor Lowndes and confirmed by the senate just before the adjournment of the general assembly. She is the daughter of a late gallant officer of high rank in the navy, a lady of much personal popularity, and will doubtless make as excellent a state librarian as those of Kentucky, Michigan and other states in which this office has come to be regarded as one which women are peculiarly adapted to fill."

Purses Swinging From a Chain.

The fashionable girl these days lets her purse swing from a chain which she wears about her neck.

The chain must be very fine and the purse of silver or gold mesh with a gate top. This idea is more for novelty than convenience, for a purse dangling from one's waist is apt to be a trifle annoying. But it is the fashion, and so the girls are all doing it. A few of the fair maidens took part of the purse within the belt, as if it were a watch.

Many of these women gold or mesh purses are wonderfully beautiful. They not only have the gold ball top studded with jewels, but a tiny gem or two glistens among the woven gold threads of the purse itself. —New York Mercury.

Denim Decorations.

The decorative possibilities of that sturdy, blue denim, are being shown this season as never before. It would seem as if the skill of the decorator was being concentrated on the effects he can produce with this fabric. In combination with white, as an outline trimming on the stuff itself or in lace curtains, over which it may be draped, or in upholstering white enamel furniture, its use is especially successful. All over chairs and divans that are upholstered in the blue or green denims are showily relieved with white buttons and piping cord as a finish.

An Oakland Woman.

An Oakland woman has recently built a cottage, doing all the carpentering, plumbing and painting herself. While doing it she never once hammered a finger, used a cuss word, joined the union, got drunk or went on a strike. A record to be proud of, is it not? —Newman Tribune.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

JUGGLERY MADE EASY.

A Trick That Magicians Perform Can Be Done by Any Bright Boy.

Many of you doubtless are familiar with the juggler's trick of baking a cake in a silk hat, but not with the way in which it is done. We are going to describe the process so simply that it may be employed in the parlor as well as on the stage.

To prepare for the trick get three eggs, and having blown the contents from two of them, close the little apertures with white wax. Place the three eggs upon a plate, ready for use when wanted, and in the left hand side of your waistcoat put a flat cake, 4 or 5 inches in diameter.

Having made these preparations, appear before the spectators, put the plate with the three eggs on it on a table and borrow a silk hat. After secretly transferring the cake from your waistcoat to the hat, put the hat on the table and break one of the blown eggs on the edge of the plate and pretend that you empty its contents into the hat.

To add to the illusion then drop the perfect egg upon the plate, and let the spectators see its contents pour out. That will help to make them believe that the other two are real. Then break the remaining blown egg and pretend to empty its contents into the hat, after which you have only to pass the hat several times over the flame of a candle to complete the trick, taking care, of course, that you do not bring it near enough to the flame to injure it.

Take out the cake and let the spectators eat it. —Philadelphia Times.

Johnny's Postscript.

Bessie Chandler, the writer of stories and verses for children, is a daughter of Commodore Chandler of the navy. At one time in their family they had a little negro boy who was not very busy, and spent his spare time idling about the rooms where the ladies sat. They would puzzle their wits to keep the boy at work. One day Mrs. Chandler was busy and sent Johnny into the next room. "You may take your slate and pencil," she said, "and write me a letter." The boy obeyed. By and by there came a shrill call: "Please, missus, I've got it wrote." It says: "Dear Missus—Kin I go down to the tennis court and see them play tennis? Respectfully yours, Johnny." Mrs. Chandler was not ready to admit him as yet, so she replied: "Oh, well, write me a postscript." Again a silence, so prolonged that she went into the room to investigate. There was no boy there. The slate lay on the chair back upward. She read the message he had first called out, and underneath it this addition: "P. S.—I have went." —San Francisco Argonaut.

One Doll's Name.

The Capital of Washington tells a pretty story about Mrs. Cleveland, a little girl and a doll. Mrs. Cleveland gave a name to the doll which was not disclosed, and the girl who guessed correctly was to get the doll. Mrs. Cleveland named the doll Columbia, and after almost every little girl in the city had tried to guess its name, and the envelope containing the guesses was about to be sealed up because not one had guessed correctly, little Margaret Lathrop, who lives at Concord, Mass., in the home that used to belong to Hawthorne, went to the bazaar and guessed the correct name, and, of course, she has the doll. Mrs. Cleveland asked Margaret afterward how she happened to guess that the doll's name was Columbia, and she said, "Mrs. Cleveland, I thought Columbia was the name you ought to give the doll."

Length of Stitches.

The first lesson given to those who are learning how to sew is what is known as the running stitch. While you may all know that the stitches should be fine and even, you may perhaps not be aware that the spaces and the stitches should be of exactly the same length, and this should not exceed an eighth of an inch.

GOVERNOR ALTGELD'S ERRORS.

Tried to Boil Up the Silver Cause With Unfounded Assumptions.

Governor John P. Altgeld of Illinois recently delivered at the Auditorium in Chicago a long and carefully prepared address, in which he endeavored to bolster up the failing silver cause with bold assertions and unfounded assumptions. Starting out with the statement that the civilized world is suffering from bankruptcy, ruin and misery, he claimed that the one cause of this state of affairs is "the great reduction in the volume of money in the world incident to destroying silver as a money metal." The rest of his two hours' speech was devoted to an attempt to show that free silver would be a sufficient remedy for all business and industrial ills.

There is only one objection to the assertion that the volume of money in the world has been greatly reduced by destroying silver as a money metal. It is not true, and Governor Altgeld is very ignorant of the question in which he assumes to teach the people of Illinois if he does not know that it is not true. The official figures show that not only has the actual value of money greatly increased during the past 25 years, but the per capita circulation also has increased. England, France, Germany, Austria and Russia, the leading commercial nations of Europe, have added over $500,000,000 to their stock of money during that period. The United States has increased its volume of specie and bullion by over $1,000,000,000 in the same time. Even the silver using countries of Asia and South America, as well as Mexico, have now far more money than in 1873. The world's production of gold and silver is now more than $100,000,000 per year. Of this great amount it is estimated that less than one half is used in the arts, so that over $50,000,000 is available for money. Of this at least $100,000,000 is gold, of which the natural increase in ten years alone will be $1,000,000,000.

The alleged evil which Governor Altgeld wishes to cure by free coinage having thus been proved to have no existence, it follows that his remedy is equally imaginary. The grounds on which he argues for the silver standard are only echoes of "Coin's Financial School," which is even outdone in some respects. Thus he says, "For some years during and after the war we were on a paper basis, and our paper dollar was worth only 40 cents in gold, but our people prospered." If this prosperity was the result of cheap paper money, why does not Governor Altgeld advocate a return to flat 40 cent or no cent paper dollars, instead of stopping half way with 51 cent silver dollars?

In closing his address Governor Altgeld asserted that the question of free coinage meant an issue between the gold standard and bimetalism. This is another error of fact. Free silver at 10 to 1, or 15 to 1, which Governor Altgeld thinks may be the best ratio, would not be bimetalism, but silver monometallism. This has been proved so often that it is no longer a question for discussion. No reasonable man believes that gold would be used as money if silver worth 50 cents were made legal tender for a dollar, for it is certain that free coinage would drive gold out of circulation and put the country on the silver basis. The issue is therefore between silver monometallism and the gold standard. No believer in an honest dollar should be deceived by the false pretense of "bimetalism." —Whitfield Graham.

Searing Capital Away.

"Any southern state which has begun to attract outside capital on a large scale or hopes to do so in the near future will make a deplorable blunder if it goes on record as favoring the free coinage of silver," says the Baltimore News (Dem.). "In no other way can these states so promptly and effectively chill the confidence of capitalists as by joining the ranks of those who are attempting to debase the currency. Any community that rushes frantically to the support of schemes for scaling down debt simply because they do scale down debt is bound to suffer for it. How much Virginia has suffered from the consequences of following Mahone into the ditch of repudiation it is impossible to estimate."

Asked to Go Backward.

Suppose some party should arise attributing the hard times among the farmers to the use of seeders and self binders and thrashing machines and attempt to convince them that to be prosperous they must "demonetize" all these implements and again scatter seed with their hands from a bag slung over their shoulders, go back to the cradle or, better, to the sickle in harvesting and the flail in thrashing. Would not the farmer of today say that the world moves forward, not backward; that it is constantly striving to lighten, not to increase manual labor? Suppose some other party should come into existence that would denounce the hard times, declare that the use of railways is the sole cause and demand their "demonetization" and a return to the freight wagon. And yet it is precisely such a retrograde movement as any of these supposed causes would be that our silver friends are proposing. But no proposition to go backward, to pick up discarded tools, to add to the burdens of exchange will ever be accepted by the mass of men. —St. Paul Globe.

Jailer DeBord, in his determination to prevent a delivery, has engaged Constable Benedict to sleep in the office of the jail until they move the desperate prisoners to Frankfort. By the way Mr. DeBord has 19 boarders now.

In Demand.—By request of Danville lodge Knights of Pythias, Rev. A. V. Sizemore will preach a sermon on "Pythianism" in that city next Sunday afternoon, 2nd, at 3 o'clock p. m. He has also been requested to go to Winchester for the same purpose.

James Helden has taken the contract to carry the mail between this place and Kingsville for $500 per year. He thinks he can make a living out of the job and it is hoped that he will not be disappointed. He will be glad to carry passengers or packages to any point on his line.

CARD OF THANKS.—Mr. C. D. Saltmarch and wife desire us to extend their heartfelt thanks to the good people of Stanford who have by words and deeds been of such great comfort to them in their late bereavement. They have truly tasted of the bitter cup, but kind and loving friends have done much towards assuaging their great grief.

WANTS TO BE JUDGE.—Squire A. C. Carman, of the Hubble vicinity, will be one of the candidates for county judge on the republican ticket. He is already "fixing up his fences" and will give the others who want the nomination the "beat in his shop." Mr. Carman is a very clever man indeed and a good farmer, but even those things don't fit a man for the office of county judge.

There is a probability that the fast West bound N. & W. train, which now runs from Washington to Chattanooga, partly over the Southern road, will pass this place and run to Louisville, instead of Chattanooga. Master of Trains B. N. Roller tells us that the matter is under consideration and he thinks it more than likely the trade with the L. & N. will be made. In the event it is, the train will stop at the more important stations on the Knoxville Branch. Stanford will then have nine passenger trains daily.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—Like Colley, a brother of Mrs. O. H. McRoberts, attempted suicide at Liberty Sunday by shooting himself. The ball entered the right temple and passing through the edge of the skull, lodged in the skin on the top of his head. He was soon at himself and expressed much mortification over the act. He has been in very bad health for a long time and that has preyed on his mind till it has made him low spirited and tired of life. Mr. Colley is well-known here, where he staid for a long time.

Dr. J. G. Carpenter is rejoicing over the arrival of a new girl.

M. S. & J. W. Baughman have bought the right for this county of the Miller patent gate, the best thing of the kind to be found. Examine the one in the court yard.

A new girl baby at his house is what has prevented our usually regular correspondent, Judge Walker Mason, of Williamsburg, from sending us reports. We know how it is ourselves. You are excused, Judge.

Envelopes.—This office has just received from the manufacturers at Boston, 100,000 envelopes, which we can print and sell you cheaper than you ever heard of. It is the largest and best lot of envelopes ever received in Stanford.

The court of appeals decided in a case appealed from Russellville that property within the town limits was subject to taxation even if unimproved, but Judge Sautley says that the decision sets no point in such cases, each having to be considered on its own merits.

WARRANTS were issued Tuesday for Frank Smith and Frank Lucas, both white citizens of Rowland, for breaking into and stealing corn from the crib of Libbun Gooch, near Gilberts Creek. They were seen by Gabe Elkin and it is more than likely they will do time in the pen. They were placed in jail Tuesday night by Constable Benedict.

SMALL STEEL.—Deputy Collector J. M. Carter tells us that he captured the smallest still he ever saw near Science Hill, Pulaski county, this week. It was run by Riffe Hines and its capacity was about two gallons per day. His cook stove did the boiling and stone jars were used as mash tubs, while the worm was not much larger than a pipe stem.

The opening ball at Crab Orchard Springs Tuesday night was a delightful affair and was heartily enjoyed by some 25 couples of dancers. The Lancaster Orchestra furnished first-rate music and the light fantastic was tripped until far into the wee sma' hours. Those who attended from here were Mrs. Lou Shanks, Misses Anne Shanks, Lou Menefee and Lizzie May Crab and Bessie Plummer and Messrs R. M. Newland, C. F. Green, C. B. Owens, James Menefee, Clarence Price and James Sautley.

19 TO 3.—The Stanford base ball club ought to go into its hole and pull it in after it. The Crab Orchard boys came down Tuesday afternoon and defeated them by a score of 20 to 4 and they no doubt could have made double as many scores if they had only desired for they had our boys at their mercy from the start. Six or eight home runs were made off of Geer and Embury, but Jones, the twirler for the visitors, was too much for the home boys and his curves dumfounded them. Joe Embury umpired a very satisfactory game.

THOUGHT WASN'T LOADED.—Over near Waynesburg the other day Matt Goodbody met Jack Padgett, also a boy and remarked to him: "I am going to shoot you," and raising a double barrel shot gun fired. Fortunately there wasn't much powder behind the load and the few shot that struck Padgett did very little harm. In explanation of his act Goodbody said that one barrel was not loaded and it was with that one he tried to scare him. The explanation was satisfactory and the affair ended there, but the fellow should be tried under the law prohibiting the pointing of firearms at people.

A PREACHER AND HIS GUN.—While Rev. G. O. Smith was preaching at Rowland Sunday night Craig Camden came in and acted in such a way as not to meet with the approval of the members and on the following day Mr. Ben Martin swore out a writ charging him with disturbing religious worship. Craig evidently thought the pastor had it done and while in Goodrich's store a few night's ago he kicked over the chair Rev. Smith was sitting in and the reverend gentleman was spilled on the floor. The latter got up as mad as a hornet and started after Camden with a drawn knife but failed to catch him. This was a little more than the preacher could stand and shouldering a shot gun he came to town and swore out a writ for assault against the young man. The unusual sight of a preacher carrying a shot gun attracted considerable attention, but when asked why he carried it he was sufficiently collected to say that he was merely going squirrel hunting. Camden was evidently the squirrel he wanted and it was fortunate, no doubt, that he did not cross his path. Camden is now non est and if he appears at his trial tomorrow morning for disturbing religious worship it will be a surprise to many.

JELLY GLASSES at Warren & Shanks.

Slight showers fall occasionally but a good gully washer is needed. "Fair and cooler Friday."

THE DERBY.—Ben Brush won the Lantonia Derby yesterday afternoon. Ben Eder was second, Lokl third and Lemper Ego fourth.

TURTLES.—Mr. W. F. Sheridan and his friend, Mr. Bolton, killed 87 turtles during their two-days' stay at Livingston, and it wasn't a good time for turtles either.

THE RICHMOND BEAUX will have to shave themselves on Sunday or go with rough faces hereafter. The mayor has ordered the barber shops to shut up on the Lord's day.

GEORGE WELCH, a Crab Orchard Negro, was placed in jail Tuesday to serve a $50 fine imposed by Squire John S. Edmiston for trying to shoot his father. He was brought here by Marshal W. T. Miller.

The 4th of July celebration at Danville will be a big thing. A parade in the morning, headed by a brass band, will start the thing. Then there will be a game of ball, bicycle races, bicycle parade and a pigeon shoot, all of which can be seen for 25c.

The police at Frankfort are making war on the "tranny" business, permitted by the penitentiary management, and an effort to stop the abuse of a very doubtful power will be made. Lancaster people tell us that the Negro, Henry Reddick, convicted of burning a house and two of its inmates, is permitted to go at large and they are very indignant over the fact.

RECEIVED.—When Mr. Ed Carter was in Louisville recently he was robbed of his return tickets on the L. & N. He reported the case to the officials of the road, who told him they would refund if the tickets did not turn up before the expiration of the limit. They did not and this week, Mr. Carter had the amount they cost refunded by the road, although it was under no obligations to do so.

CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Sautley has extended the term till next week in order to try John Murphy, before the man he shot, Frank Ellis, is taken to the penitentiary. A continuous term of five weeks is about as much as we can stand here at this time of the year.

The jury gave Monroe Smith a judgment for $75 against F. M. Ware on a claim for $216.

The Procter Land Co., of Johnson City, Tenn., was cast in its suit for $1,700 assessment against Dr. L. B. Cook, a stockholder.

At the request of Col. Bill, who is almost prostrated over the death of his daughter, the trial of John Murphy, called Wednesday, was continued till next Tuesday, the 30th.

The swiftest execution of justice ever witnessed here was given Wednesday, when Frank Lucas and Frank Smith, the white men who stole corn from Libbun Gooch, were convicted of the crime and given one year sentence each in the penitentiary. The corn was stolen Monday night. They were jailed Tuesday night and in 36 hours after the commission of the crime the jury had assessed their punishment. In order to try them at this court, Judge Sautley had an extra grand jury summoned, which indicted the men Wednesday, their trials following immediately. If the punishment of all crime could be as condign and as summary, there would be a great deal less for the courts to do. Unfortunately such instances are the exception and they never occur when a human life has been taken.

Dick Bailey, of Boyle, was brought here yesterday afternoon by Constable T. W. Bailey, charged with breaking into the house of Margaret Carter, a Negro woman, living near Moreland, and stealing a coat, a pair of pants and a pair of shoes. W. S. Hunter, a German detective living at Moreland, worked up the case. Immediately on his arrival Judge Sautley summoned a grand jury and Bailey was indicted. Hon. R. C. Warren was appointed to defend him and his trial was begun at once and at 4:30 the jury rendered a verdict for five years.

Miss Mary Christeen, who claimed that she was engaged to be married to the defendant next month, was present and could be heard to ejaculate every few minutes, "Oh I hope they will clear him." When the verdict was announced she sighed "Oh, my God!"

The grand jury yesterday investigated another case, but found no indictment and adjourned.

One man has been sentenced to death and 11 to the penitentiary for terms ranging from one year to life and still there's more to follow.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Rev. John Reeve, presiding elder of the Shelbyville district, and Miss Mae McCormick were married at Waddy Wednesday.

—News comes from Somerset that W. A. Reid, familiarly known as "Rex," was married a few days ago to a Miss Leigh, one of Pulaski county's prettiest girls. The Interior Journal joins Mr. Reid's many friends in this county in congratulations.

—In the absence of money to build the new State Reformatory, the sinking fund commissioners are discussing the advisability of turning over the Eddyville penitentiary to the trustees of the institution.
